

Our refuges remain open as does the 24/7 helpline, IDVA service and Community DV Practitioners. Drop-ins at GPs and other locations and groups are temporarily suspended.

Most support is being undertaken by telephone, facetime or by conference call, however some face to face contact is still happening.

Refuge Services:

- Where possible refuge sites will be staffed by at least one member of staff, but following social distancing with at least a 2-metre distance*
- Advice in relation to safeguarding vulnerable groups will be followed*

Community Services:

- 24/7 helpline still being offered along with email support. We are also looking into 'live chat' services*
- IDVA services still continue, offering telephone support, with some urgent face to face court hearings being offered on a risk assessed case by case basis (being reviewed daily)*
- CDVT staff will at present continue to attend appointments and court hearings and wherever possible carry out the appointments that are in the diary*
- Drop ins and groups are postponed and support is being offered over the telephone, over video call, over email. WHM staff are creating resources and support packs, with links to content online and other information*
- Police control room support and Weekend Domestic Abuse car postponed*
- Children & Young People's workers have developed packs for the children and face time is being used with those who are self-isolating*
