1. Aims

At Greenmount Primary our curriculum provides children with the skills to embrace the challenges of creating a happy and successful adult life. Pupils need knowledge that will enable them to make informed decisions about their wellbeing, health and relationships and to build their self-efficacy. Pupils can also put this knowledge into practice as they develop the capacity to make sound decisions when facing risks, challenges and complex contexts. Everyone faces difficult situations in their lives. These subjects can support young people to develop resilience, to know how and when to ask for help, and to know where to access support

2. Statutory requirements and links to other policies

As a maintained primary school, we must provide relationships education to all pupils under section 34 of the Children and Social Work Act 2017.

In teaching Relationships Education we must have regard to guidance issued by the secretary of state, as outlined in section 403 of the Education Act 1996.

We must also have regard to our legal duties set out in:

- Sections 406 and 407 of the Education Act 1996
- Part 6, chapter 1 of the Equality Act 2010
- The Public Sector Equality Duty (as set out in section 149 of the Equality Act 2010). This duty requires public bodies to have due regard to the need to eliminate discrimination, advance equality of opportunity and foster good relations between different people when carrying out their activities

As a primary academy, we must provide relationships education to all pupils under section 34 of the Children and Social Work Act 2017.

We don't have to follow the National Curriculum, but we are expected to offer all pupils a curriculum that is similar to the National Curriculum including requirements to teach science. This would include the elements of sex education contained in the science curriculum.

In teaching RSE, we're required by our funding agreements to have regard to guidance issued by the secretary of state, as outlined in section 403 of the Education Act 1996.

We also have regard to legal duties set out in:

- Sections 406 and 407 of the Education Act 1996
- Part 6, chapter 1 of the Equality Act 2010
- The Public Sector Equality Duty (as set out in section 149 of the Equality Act 2010). This duty requires public bodies to have due regard to the need to eliminate discrimination, advance equality of opportunity and foster good relations between different people when carrying out their activities

3. Policy development

This policy has been developed in consultation with staff, pupils and parents. The consultation and policy development process involved the following steps:

1. Review – a member of staff or working group pulled together all relevant information including relevant national and local guidance

2. Staff consultation – all school staff were given the opportunity to look at the policy and make recommendations
3. Parent/stakeholder consultation – parents and any interested parties were invited to attend a meeting about the policy/the consultation was hold over survey monkey.
4. Pupil consultation – we investigated what exactly pupils want from their RE
5. Ratification – once amendments were made, the policy was shared with governors and ratified

4. Definition

Relationship and Health Education, is about the emotional, social and cultural development of pupils, and involves learning about relationships, online safety, healthy lifestyles, diversity and personal identity. It involves a combination of sharing information and exploring issues and values.

5. Curriculum

Our curriculum is set out as per Appendix 1, but we may need to adapt it as and when necessary.

We have developed the curriculum inline with the Leeds City Council, Health and wellbeing team. We consulted with parents, pupils and staff, taking into account the age, needs and feelings of pupils. If pupils ask questions outside the scope of this policy, teachers will respond in an appropriate manner so they are fully informed and don't seek answers online.

Sex Education

It is important that the transition phase before moving to secondary school supports pupils' ongoing emotional and physical development effectively. It is recommended by the Department of Education therefore that all primary schools should have a sex education programme tailored to the age and the physical and emotional maturity of the pupils.

Sex Education at Greenmount Primary School is offered as an opt-in lesson which if required will be taught by the Health and Wellbeing Team from Leeds City Council. This will be taught in Summer term and all the lesson information will be shared with parents prior to teaching.

6. Delivery of Relationship education

Relationship Education, is taught within the personal, social, health and economic (PSHE) education curriculum. Biological aspects of Relationship and Health Education, are taught within the science curriculum, and other aspects are included in other subjects such as PE, computing and religious education.

Relationship and Health Education, in primary schools is split into two parts Relationships Education and Health Education (appendix 2). Relationship Education focuses on teaching the fundamental building blocks and characteristics of positive relationships.

- Families and people who care for me
- Online relationships
- Caring friendships
- Being safe
- Respectful relationships

Only in Key Stage Two pupils will learn about the changing adolescent body and puberty. Details about what is taught and when can be found in Appendix 1. When children start to learn about puberty in Years 4, 5 and 6 they will be taught about the changes that occur to both sexes but these lessons will be taught in mixed groups or a combination of mixed and single sex groups . This will be dependent on the cohorts.

For more information about our Relationship education curriculum, see Appendices 1 and 2.

These areas of learning are taught within the context of family life taking care to ensure that there is no stigmatisation of children based on their home circumstances (families can include single parent families, LGBT parents, families headed by grandparents, adoptive parents, foster parents/carers amongst other structures) along with reflecting sensitively that some children may have a different structure of support around them (for example: looked after children or young carers).

Using the correct vocabulary is very important when discussing sensitive subject is very important for the safeguarding of your children. Below are some of the words which teachers may use;

Key Stage One	Key Stage Two
Clean, Similar, different, Family, boy, girl, male, female, Body parts, arms, legs, head, body, babies, children, adult, penis, vagina, private parts, testicles penis and vagina aren't directly taught in KS1 but are the anatomically correct words teachers will use if needed.	Womb, egg, sperm, pregnancy, twins, fostering, adoption, relationships, friendship, love, consent, Stereotypes, gender roles, similar, different Male, female, body parts, penis, vagina, Family, fostering, adoption, relationships, puberty, physical changes, emotional changes, Moods, menstruation, periods, tampons, sanitary towels, semen, erection, Sweat, breasts, spots, pubic hair, facial hair, underarm hair, scrotum, Testes (testicles)

7. Inclusivity and children with SEND

All pupils, whatever their experience, background and identity, are entitled to quality PSHE that helps them build confidence and a positive sense of self, and to stay healthy. All classes include pupils with different abilities and aptitudes, experiences and religious/cultural backgrounds, gender and sexual identities. To encourage pupils to participate in lessons, teachers will ensure content, approach, and use of inclusive language reflects the diversity of the school community, and helps each and every pupil to feel valued and included in the classroom.

We promote the needs and interest of all pupils. The school's approaches to teaching and learning take into account the ability, age, readiness and cultural backgrounds of pupils to ensure all can access the full PSHE and Relationship Education provision. We promote social learning and expect our pupils to show a high regard for the needs of others. PSHE is an important vehicle for addressing both multicultural and gender issues and ensuring equal opportunities for all.

We will teach about these topics in a manner that:

- Considers how a diverse range of pupils will relate to them
- Is sensitive to all pupils' experiences
- During lessons, makes pupils feel:
 - Safe and supported
 - Able to engage with the key messages

We will also:

- Make sure that pupils learn about these topics in an environment that's appropriate for them, for example in:
 - A whole-class setting
 - Small groups or targeted sessions
 - 1-to-1 discussions
 - Digital formats
- Give careful consideration to the level of differentiation needed

Responding to pupils' diverse learning needs:

Considerations will be made for:

- religious and cultural diversity
- differing gender needs and abilities, including SEND
- diverse sexuality of pupils
- homophobic/transphobic bullying and behaviour
- pupil's age and physical and emotional maturity
- pupils who are new to English

Ethnicity, religion and cultural diversity:

Our policy values the different backgrounds of all pupils in school and, in acknowledging and exploring different views and beliefs, seeks to promote respect and understanding. We encourage respect for all religions and cultures. We do not ask pupils to represent the views of a particular religious or cultural group to their peers, unless they choose to do so.

Special educational needs and learning difficulties:

We ensure that all pupils receive Relationships Education and we offer provision appropriate to the particular needs of our pupils, taking specialist advice where necessary. Staff will differentiate lessons to ensure that all members of the class can access the information fully. The school will use a variety of different strategies to ensure that all pupils have access to the same information. Some pupils will be more vulnerable to abuse and exploitation than their peers, and others may be confused about what is acceptable public behaviour. These pupils will need help to develop skills to reduce the risks of being abused and exploited, and to learn what sorts of behaviour are, and are not, acceptable.

Sexual identity and sexual orientation:

We have a clear duty under the Equality Act 2010 to ensure that our teaching is accessible to all pupils, including those who are lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender (LGBT). Inclusive PSHE will foster good relations between pupils, tackle all types of prejudice, including homophobia, and promote understanding and respect, enabling us to meet the requirements, and live the intended spirit, of the Equality Act 2010.

Pupils who are new to English

The school should take into account the language skills of individual pupils, ensuring that all pupils have equal access to the PSHE provision and resources.

8. Roles and responsibilities

8.1 The governing board

The governing board will approve the Relationship education policy and hold the headteacher to account for its implementation.

8.2 The headteacher

The headteacher is responsible for ensuring that Relationship education is taught consistently across the school, and for managing requests to withdraw pupils from non-statutory components of Relationship education (see section 8).

8.3 Staff

Subject leader will ensure that

- staff feel confident when delivering Relationship education
- staff are aware of the curriculum and the new guidelines
- PSHE and Relationship education are monitored regularly throughout school.

Staff are responsible for:

- Delivering Relationship education in a sensitive way

- › Modelling positive attitudes to Relationship education
- › Monitoring progress
- › Responding to the needs of individual pupils

8.4 Pupils

Pupils are expected to engage fully in Relationship education and, when discussing issues related to Relationship education, treat others with respect and sensitivity.

Pupils views are consulted and collected through face to face interviews, questionnaires and surveys.

9. Parents’ right to withdraw

Parents do not have the right to withdraw their children from Relationships and Health education in primary schools. Sex education is not compulsory in primary schools. Parents have the right to opt-in to the Sex Education Lessons taught by Leeds City Council if they wish to do so. Children will only be taught the what is compulsory within National Curriculum for Science. Details of which can be found below.

In year 5 children will learn about the scientific life process of asexual and sexual reproduction in animals and plants. Sexual reproduction is the term used to describe reproduction which involves male and females. This occurs in both plants and animals.

Flowering plants

They will learn some plants reproduce with sexual reproduction while others use asexual reproduction. In flowering plants, pollination occurs when the pollen is passed on to another flower, where fertilization occurs in the pistil. In non-flowering plants, some produce spores while others produce seeds.

Animals

They will learn about the life cycles of insect amphibians, birds and mammals. This will involve learning about how an egg needs to be fertilised, an embryo grows inside the egg. and this develops into an animal’s offspring.

Living things and their habitats	Animals, including humans
Statutory requirements Pupils should be taught to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • describe the differences in the life cycles of a mammal, an amphibian, an insect and a bird • describe the life process of reproduction in some plants and animals. 	Statutory requirements Pupils should be taught to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • describe the changes as humans develop to old age.
Notes and guidance (non-statutory) Pupils should study and raise questions about their local environment throughout the year. They should observe life-cycle changes in a variety of living things, for example, plants in the vegetable garden or flower border, and animals in the local environment. They should find out about the work of naturalists and animal behaviourists, for example, David Attenborough and Jane Goodall. Pupils should find out about different types of reproduction, including sexual and asexual reproduction in plants, and sexual reproduction in animals. Pupils might work scientifically by: observing and comparing the life cycles of plants and animals in their local environment with other plants and animals around the world (in the rainforest, in the oceans, in desert areas and in prehistoric times), asking pertinent questions and suggesting reasons for similarities and differences. They might try to grow new plants from different parts of the parent plant, for example, seeds, stem and root cuttings, tubers, bulbs. They might observe changes in an animal over a period of time (for example, by hatching and rearing chicks), comparing how different animals reproduce and grow.	27 <hr style="border: 1px solid black;"/> Science – key stages 1 and 2 Notes and guidance (non-statutory) Pupils should draw a timeline to indicate stages in the growth and development of humans. They should learn about the changes experienced in puberty. Pupils could work scientifically by researching the gestation periods of other animals and comparing them with humans; by finding out and recording the length and mass of a baby as it grows.

10. Training

Staff are trained on the delivery of Relationship and Health Education, as part of their induction and it is included in our continuing professional development calendar.

The subject leader will also invite visitors from outside the school, such as school nurses or sexual health professionals, to provide support and training to staff teaching Relationship education.

11. Monitoring arrangements

The delivery of Relationship education is monitored by PSHE Subject Leader through:

- collecting children's books for work scrutiny on a rolling program and by chatting informally to colleagues.
- Drop in of lessons
- Displays around school
- Discussion and feedback from pupils and teachers
- Use of PASS survey and My Healthy School Survey to address any gaps and feedback from pupils
- Use of ask it baskets in class

Pupils' development in Relationship education is monitored by class teachers as part of our internal assessment systems.

This policy will be reviewed by PSHE Subject Leader annually. At every review, the policy will be approved by the governing board and the headteacher.

Appendix 2: By the end of primary school pupils should know

RELATIONSHIP EDUCATION
TOPIC	PUPILS SHOULD KNOW
Families and people who care about me	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • That families are important for children growing up because they can give love, security and stability • The characteristics of healthy family life, commitment to each other, including in times of difficulty, protection and care for children and other family members, the importance of spending time together and sharing each other's lives • That others' families, either in school or in the wider world, sometimes look different from their family, but that they should respect those differences and know that other children's families are also characterised by love and care • That stable, caring relationships, which may be of different types, are at the heart of happy families, and are important for children's security as they grow up • That marriage represents a formal and legally recognised commitment of two people to each other which is intended to be lifelong • How to recognise if family relationships are making them feel unhappy or unsafe, and how to seek help or advice from others if needed
Caring friendships	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How important friendships are in making us feel happy and secure, and how people choose and make friends • The characteristics of friendships, including mutual respect, truthfulness, trustworthiness, loyalty, kindness, generosity, trust, sharing interests and experiences and support with problems and difficulties • That healthy friendships are positive and welcoming towards others, and do not make others feel lonely or excluded • That most friendships have ups and downs, and that these can often be worked through so that the friendship is repaired or even strengthened, and that resorting to violence is never right • How to recognise who to trust and who not to trust, how to judge when a friendship is making them feel unhappy or uncomfortable, managing conflict, how to manage these situations and how to seek help or advice from others, if needed

Respectful relationships	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The importance of respecting others, even when they are very different from them (for example, physically, in character, personality or backgrounds), or make different choices or have different preferences or beliefs • Practical steps they can take in a range of different contexts to improve or support respectful relationships • The conventions of courtesy and manners • The importance of self-respect and how this links to their own happiness • That in school and in wider society they can expect to be treated with respect by others, and that in turn they should show due respect to others, including those in positions of authority • About different types of bullying (including cyberbullying), the impact of bullying, responsibilities of bystanders (primarily reporting bullying to an adult) and how to get help • What a stereotype is, and how stereotypes can be unfair, negative or destructive • The importance of permission-seeking and giving in relationships with friends, peers and adults
Online relationships	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • That people sometimes behave differently online, including by pretending to be someone they are not • That the same principles apply to online relationships as to face-to face relationships, including the importance of respect for others online including when we are anonymous • The rules and principles for keeping safe online, how to recognise risks, harmful content and contact, and how to report them • How to critically consider their online friendships and sources of information including awareness of the risks associated with people they have never met • How information and data is shared and used online
